Sandy Betten
2805 Judson Rd
Spring Lake, MI

I was hospitalized due to adverse reaction from a prescribed drug. My daughter had gastrointestinal challenges after her last vaccination that took years to overcome. All 3 of my kids have 30+ food sensitivities since their last vaccine. I have 3 auto immune diseases and I know that aluminum in vaccines is meant to agitate the immune system. My kids potentially inherit my genetic makeup. The pressure is rising to vaccinate, true Informed Consent is not provided and as you know, manufacturers are not held accountable. How can we move so close to mandating a procedure that is "unavoidably unsafe" as ruled by the federal government when you can't even promise that physicians know how to identify adverse reactions? It has been said that its likely only 1-10% of all reactions are posted to VAERS.We know with certainty that no product is 100% safe for every person. I ask you, what number represents the maximum amount of children that is morally acceptable to sacrifice for the greater good? I also want to know if my child is somehow less important to society than an immune compromised child? Until we resolve this, until we begin to acknowledge the parents who've lost or have injured children due to vaccinations, until valid scientific long term studies are done using genuine placebos, until we study the synergistic effects of the full 70+ dose schedule with ALL of the ingredients that include human and animal DNA, formaldehyde, aluminum, Polysorbate 80,20 etc, until we acknowledge that it is actually unethical to claim its unethical to do double blind placebo studies, until pharmaceutical companies begin to once again be accountable for adverse reactions–then we can not continue to give unelected officials (aka unconstitutional agencies) more power than the individual. The constitution indicates my rights come from the Law of Nature and Nature's God therefore, why are they being usurped by HHS? Show me in the constitution where HHS has medical rights over my or my children's bodies.I ask you to support HB5162 & HB5163 to honor the boundaries of the constitution and Parental Freedom.